Table 1. Service features

Feature	Delivery specifications
Remote problem diagnosis and support	When experiencing a problem, the customer must first place a call to a designated HP support telephone number. HP will provide basic telephone technical assistance with installation, product configuration, setup and problem resolution. Prior to scheduling a unit exchange, HP may ask the customer to provide relevant information, start diagnostic tools and perform other supporting activities at the request of HP.
Hardware exchange	If, in the judgement of HP, the problem cannot be resolved remotely, HP will replace the failed product with a product that is new or equivalent to new in performance, but may have minor cosmetics defects. The replaced product becomes the property of HP. The replacement unit is shipped via a carrier or courier to the customer's location free of delivery charges. The customer's requested ship-to location must not require HP to ship the replacement product through international customs.
Return of the defective product to HP	HP offers two options for returning the failed unit to HP (country variations apply): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Customer delivers: with this option the customer is responsible for returning the failed equipment to HP within the time specified below (see "Customer responsibilities") using packaging instructions, materials and a prepaid shipping label provided by HP with the replacement product. • Pickup by HP: at the discretion of HP, an HP-authorized courier will pick up the failed product at the customer's site either at the time of delivery of the replacement product or within the following 10 business days. It is the customer's responsibility to package and prepare the product appropriately for courier pickup.
Response times	The response time specifies the time that begins when the initial service request is received and logged with HP and ends when the replacement unit arrives at the customer's site, if this time falls within the specified coverage window. The following response times for exchange service are available for eligible products and locations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Next-business-day response: after the request has been logged, HP will ship the replacement unit to the customer's site for delivery on the next business day for which there exists a coverage window. • 4-hour response (for eligible products and locations only): after the request has been logged, HP will ship the replacement unit for delivery to the customer's site within 4 hours after the service request has been logged, if this time falls within the specified coverage window.

Service limitations

At the discretion of HP, service will be provided using a combination of remote diagnosis and support, shipment of a permanent replacement product, or other service-delivery methods. Other service-delivery methods may include the overnight shipment of customer-replaceable parts, such as a keyboard or mouse. HP will determine the appropriate delivery method required in order to provide effective and timely customer support.

Services such as, but not limited to, the following are excluded from this service:

- Diagnosis or maintenance at the customer site (if onsite diagnosis or maintenance is required, the customer will be billed at standard HP service rates)
- Setup and installation of the replacement product at the customer site
- Recovery of the operating system, other software and data
- Troubleshooting for interconnectivity or compatibility problems
- Support for network-related problems
- Services required due to failure of the customer to incorporate any system fix, repair, patch or modification provided to the customer by HP
- Services required due to failure of the customer to take avoidance action previously advised by HP
- User preventative maintenance

The customer's requested ship-to or pickup location must not require HP to ship replacement or replaced products through international customs.

Geographic coverage may vary.

Customer responsibilities

The customer will be required, upon HP request, to support HP in resolving the problem remotely by:

- Providing all information necessary for HP to deliver timely and professional remote support and to enable HP to determine the level of support eligibility
- Starting self-tests and installing and running other diagnostic tools and programs
- Installing customer-installable firmware updates and patches
- Performing other reasonable activities to help HP identify or resolve the problem

For selected products, the customer must inform HP of all configuration requirements for the replacement product prior to commencement of service and document such configuration requirements on each service-request order form.

At the time of the service request, the customer must provide a credit-card or purchase-order number to HP. If the "Pickup by HP" option has not been chosen, the customer must ship the failed product to HP within 3 business days of receipt of the replacement product and obtain a prepaid insurance receipt to be retained by the customer as proof of shipment to HP. If the failed product is not received by HP within 10 business days of the customer's receipt of the replacement product, the customer will be charged the product's list price.

Replacement units will usually be delivered to and failed products will be picked up at the customer's reception desk or goods reception area if the specified customer address is a business address. The customer must acknowledge the receipt of the replacement product by signing the freight carrier air bill at the time of delivery.

Enjoy the convenience of door-to-door service and fast response times.

The customer is responsible for installing, in a timely manner, all critical customer-installable firmware updates, customer-replaceable parts and replacement units received from HP.

It is the customer's responsibility to:

- Maintain a backup copy of all software and data; HP recommends regular backups
- Restore software and data on the unit after repair or replacement
- Install the user application software and ensure that all software is appropriately licensed

Geographic coverage

Service will be provided in Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA) and, within EMEA, only in countries where HP has a Support Responsible Office or an authorised support representative. Unless otherwise specified in the service description, service will be available during standard HP local business hours, Monday to Friday, subject to local variations, excluding public holidays, within any specified travel zones. If the product is located or is to be installed outside of any specified travel zone, service may be subject to additional support charges, longer response time and reduced coverage hours. Relocation of the product is the customer's responsibility and may result in additional support charges and modified service levels and response times.

Please consult with your local HP-authorized representative to determine if your location is eligible for this service.
